INTERSTATE MOVEMENT OF LIVESTOCK DIRECTLY FROM APPROVED TAGGING SITE TO ADJOINING STATE

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT BY AND BETWEEN ADJOINING STATE ANIMAL HEALTH REGULATORY AGENCIES

USDA’s Animal Disease Traceability Rule states in Volume 9 Code of Federal Regulations (9 CFR) Part §86.5(c) that “Cattle and bison moved interstate must be accompanied by an ICVI…. [Alternatively,] cattle and bison may be moved between shipping and receiving States or Tribes with documentation other than an Interstate Certificate of Veterinary Inspection (ICVI) ….as agreed upon by animal health officials in the shipping and receiving States or Tribes.” As such, this Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) provides the framework for an agreement between states to allow cattle sold from an approved tagging site to cross state lines into an agreeing state without an ICVI while preserving traceability. It is the long range goal of these states that the approved tagging sites individually evolve to a point where electronic movement records containing official identification (ID), origin, destination and date of movement are generated and shared with origin and destination states. With these and other Animal Disease Traceability (ADT) goals in mind, this agreement will be reviewed and amended as agreed upon by participating states on an annual basis or more often if deemed necessary.

As opposed to having a few large regional livestock facilities, it is the general nature of states in the Southeast to have many small local livestock markets, buying stations, and other type facilities (Livestock Facilities as defined by the USDA), many of which are close to state lines and handle a significant number of out of state cattle.
